Evelyn is going on a 4-H camping trip next weekend and needs a new sleeping bag. The weather is predicted to be warm during the day, but temperatures may drop down to 30 degrees that evening, so she will need one that can help keep her warm. There is a chance of rain one of the nights, so she will need something water-resistant. Evelyn does not camp very often, so she would like to only spend no more than $75. The sleeping bag also needs to be light enough to fit in her backpack she will be carrying; she would prefer it to be under 3 lbs. Which sleeping bag is the best purchase for her?

Class #1 – Outdoor Equipment – REASONS

Placing: 3-4-1-2

Cuts: 2-3-4

In the middle pair, I placed 2 over 1 because:

- 2 has fewer calories
- 2 has much less fat
- 2 has much more fiber
- 2 has less sugar
- 2 is a lower price at $8.80 for the family ( $$2.20 \times 4$  people)
