We're excited to share that National 4-H Week began with a special resolution presented by the Dallas County Commissioners and Judge Clay Jenkins in honor of Dallas County 4-H. The youth present showcased their incredible dedication as representatives of our program.

Akyza and Azarea Lawrence, part of our Teens as Teachers youth development program, delivered inspiring speeches about their experiences over the summer. They highlighted valuable skills they've gained in areas such as food and nutrition, workforce readiness, and financial literacy. The Teens as Teachers efforts in teaching younger members of the community have made a significant impact.

We are proud to work with such talented youth and look forward to enhancing our current programs while expanding our reach throughout the Dallas County community.

TEENS AS TEACHERS

SUMMER CELEBRATION OF ACHIEVEMENTS

On September 7th, Dallas County 4-H celebrated the summer achievements of the Teens as Teachers (TaT) SPIN club in culminating their first semester of training and teaching youth in the Greater Dallas area on Healthy Eating & Active Living. They administered six lessons from a curriculum created by Cornell University over the course of the summer in co-teacher pairings to groups of 10-20 students at a time, ranging in 7-15 years of age. The cohort of 17 teens is gearing up to teach again during the fall semester and will balance school, extracurricular activities, and their TaT duties as they continue to pursue workforce development. Focusing on STEM, the teens will train and deliver lessons curated by National 4-H and in the spring will have the opportunity to send a delegation to the National 4-H Ignite Summit in Washington, DC. We are very proud of our Teen Teachers at the AgriLife Extension office and look forward to witnessing their future achievements.

Interested in gaining workforce experience and working with your community? As a Teen Teacher you will become part of a cohort of teens gaining professional skills through guided-mentorship and specialized trainings. You will become a Texas A&M employee and deliver lessons with a co-teacher on topics ranging from STEM to Mental Health to youth in after-school programs. If you're 14 years of age or older and looking to expand your 4-H involvement, an opportunity for educationally oriented-employment, or an introduction to career readiness then APPLY TO BE A TEEN TEACHER TODAY!

SOCCER FOR SUCCESS

KICKOFF TO SUCCESS

We're excited to share that the Dallas County 4-H agent Elias Espinosa, from Prairie View has hosted six Soccer Days, introducing communities to the vibrant Soccer for Success program. In collaboration with the Boys and Girls Clubs of Greater Dallas, Mr. Espinosa led engaging sessions for over 150 children in grades K-8 across four clubs in the area.

This initiative is a cornerstone of our Healthy Living program, designed to provide underserved children with access to physical activity, nutrition education, and social-emotional learning (SEL). Through these elements, we're helping kids build a brighter future and enhance their quality of life.

Looking ahead, we plan to roll out the full Soccer for Success curriculum this fall at various venues. If you're interested in starting a soccer program in your community or volunteering to make a difference in the lives of children in Dallas, please reach out to our Prairie View University 4-H agent:

YOUTH HIGHLIGHT

Bringing Change, From Dallas County to the National 4-H TLEI Summit By Faith Apodaca

After witnessing cultural bullying of friends last year, Gabriella Pardo and I co-founded the Texas 4-H Culture Committee of Dallas County with adult leaders Liz Espie and Starla Apodaca. Thanks to the support of numerous volunteers and advocates, our first year, we reached approximately 4,000 through community engagements. The Committee's leadership team has grown to now include seven youth, three Culture Ambassadors, three adult leaders, and more than twenty advocates and volunteers—and we're still growing. Our new leadership team has already been hard at work through participation in a cultural awareness workshop with Dallas County AgriLife and Purdue Extension, event planning at club and county levels, expansion planning across the state, and presentation and participation at the National 4-H True Leaders in Equity Summit over the summer in D.C. area for five days.

At the National 4-H TLEI Summit, six members of the Committee's youth leadership team: Lux Walker, Anthony Vu, Sophia Pardo, Abigail Kailukaitis, Ryleigh Gamble, and I presented our cultural awareness anti-bullying initiative Many Cultures, One Community to 200 youth from across the U.S. and territories discussing our year in review and future Committee plans. Through other team's presentations, we gained insight into the change initiatives happening across the U.S. Peers shared thoughts and experiences to improve each team's plan, and we connected with teams with similar goals. We participated in Q&A discussions which helped us think deeper and develop more plan details. Keynote speakers shared insightful tips, strategies, and personal stories on a variety of change topics to inspire and educate. We networked during Career Panel discussions. Plus, we expanded our way of thinking and were inspired to reach farther with our goal through attendance of workshops.

Liz Espie and I co-presented two workshops with our workshop Plan C and the Rest of the Alphabet. We shared brainstorming methods to help equip teams' development of their best plan and the tools necessary to explore new options if situations go awry or the unexpected happens. There is more than one letter in the alphabet, and more than one plan to reach a goal. Participants were able to practice brainstorming methods toward solution to an assigned pre-determined goal and revisit brainstorming methods when hit with an unexpected change. The teams had much success, and we received good feedback on our presentation. Though I am not an excellent speaker yet, I believe my presentation skills grew significantly with this year's TLEI experience, and I had a lot of fun.

Presentations and workshops were not the only thing on the agenda. We also explored the D.C. area from the moment we stepped off our early flight, headed to see the Washington Nationals ball game and were gifted team baseball caps. We also took a night tour of the National Monuments, had a night out at the museum tour, checked out multiple Smithsonian museums (I especially loved the National Air and Space Museum), explored the area, rode the subway, danced, exchanged team pins and stickers with the other teams, and along the way developed friendships, a stronger team, self-confidence, and independence.

Overall, the National 4-H TLEI experience enriched our lives by providing us a broader look at the world we live in, interaction with more diverse mindsets, tools to navigate difficult conversations, importance of inclusion and self-advocacy, and opportunity for self-growth. Our team is poised to make an even bigger impact this year as we look to participate in more community engagements, host a cultural arts day and a school cultural read-a-loud, and expand the Committee's mission beyond Dallas County to additional counties across the state.

If you want to be a part of the change to reduce cultural biases, please join the Texas 4-H Culture Committee of Dallas County. We are actively seeking additional committee members, volunteers, community partners, and Culture Ambassadors. For more information, please contact Liz Espie at Liz.Espie@ag.tamu.edu or Elias Espinosa at efespino@pvamu.edu and follow us on Instagram.

Hope you join us in creating a safe and welcoming space for all cultures.

Visual Letter Art Exchange Global Citizenship Project

4-H clubs are invited to participate in a Global Citizenship Project -- Visual Letter Art Exchange! Club members create "visual letters" to send to children of similar ages in Michigan and Norway. A "visual letter" is just like a written letter in that both can tell stories and share important ideas and feelings. The medium however is different; one uses images and the other uses words - both are effective in connecting children across the globe. Youth are to create a piece of art that communicates something that is important in their lives, such as friends, family, pets, home, school, sports, 4-H activities, holidays, etc.

Open to Texas 4-H
members in grades 3-12

How to Participate

- September -- discuss the Visual Letter Art Exchange with 4-H club members and notify Dr. Locke of club's intent to participate (limited to 10 clubs)
- Receive confirmation and additional instructions from Dr. Locke
- Submit art by October 31
- December -- 4-H clubs receive art from Michigan and/or Norway
- January through May -- 4-H clubs share art at monthly meetings; reflect on the cultural similarities and differences through guided discussions.

DALLAS 4-H CLUBS CORNER

East Dallas 4-H

At the East Dallas Club meeting on Tuesday, September 17th we started with an icebreaker with a snowball fight (the snowballs had positive words in them) and discussed how we need volunteers for our Kendra Scott fundraiser & our booths at the zoo and Torchy's Taco Casa Linda (to explain how 4-H works). We also discussed our projects and how they work for example robotics, livestock, and photography. For National Voter Registration Day, we registered to vote in our mock "no politics" election at our October meeting. By Isabella Whitener, Reporter

Pegasus 4-H

It's going to be an exciting year for Pegasus. Last night we had our first meeting and our officers were installed. Ruth our president talked about goals that we might have for the upcoming year to make our best even better. We also talked about projects that our club might be interested in doing. We will all try to take on more leadership roles in our club and share more responsibilities. We have some projects coming up...archery, photography, community service and public speaking. In archery, several of our club members went to the State Fair and competed. Our president got first place for her group.

We are looking forward to starting more projects this year. By Sam Redman, Reporter

◀◀ DALLAS 4-H CLUBS CORNER

Tumbleweed 4-H

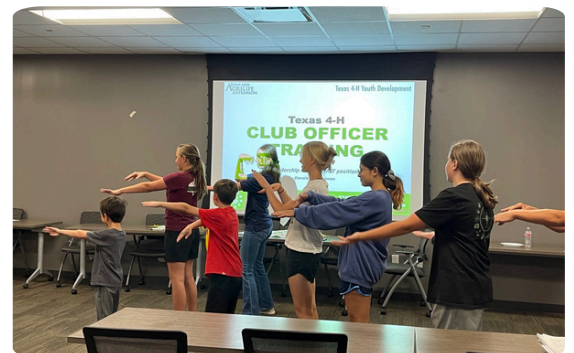

The Tumbleweeds 4-H Club had our first meeting of the year. We introduced our 2024-2025 officers, approved our annual budget, and voted to purchase a robotics kit for the Robotics Project, using funds from a Wal-Mart grant that was recently received! The program was all about EGGS! We learned about how eggs are formed inside a chicken and broke into groups to do an egg drop project. With some creative packaging, most of the eggs did not break when dropped from the second floor! By Haley Trcka, Reporter

◀◀ Dallas Youth Leadership

At the 4-H Meeting on September 9, we started with an icebreaker and then started with our meeting and discussed ideas of how we could be more involved with our community. And we discussed who would be our 2nd and 3rd vice president. Anthony & Gemma were elected. We also discussed what our roles mean to our 4-H community and how we can commit to that.

Paradise Baptist 4-H

We are excited to announce that Paradise Baptist Church is now officially a chartered community club with Dallas County 4-H! This marks a significant milestone as one of the first clubs established in South Dallas.

We eagerly anticipate welcoming their new youth members and getting them involved in all the amazing opportunities 4-H has to offer. The members will focus on STEM initiatives, fostering curiosity and innovation in our young leaders.

Let's give a warm welcome to Paradise Baptist Church, Kayla James - Club Manager, and all its new members! We can't wait to see the incredible things they will achieve.

Constellation of Living Memorials

We're thrilled to share that Constellation of Living Memorials has teamed up with 4-H to launch a new 4-H Spin Club! Under the leadership of Julie Fineman and with the support of Dr. Jarvis James from Taking Back Our Community Church, this initiative brings together dedicated volunteers to provide underserved youth with a unique opportunity to learn about monarchs and foster ecological awareness.

Constellation of Living Memorials is committed to transforming neglected historic cemeteries across Texas into vibrant natural habitats filled with native plants. These revitalized spaces will not only honor those laid to rest but also serve as crucial stopovers for migrating wildlife. Our youth members will gain hands-on experience in habitat preservation, contributing to meaningful environmental change.

Dallas County 4-H is excited about the positive impact this collaboration will have on our community and looks forward to working closely with our new 4-H members.
