Whether you own five acres or five hundred thousand acres, it's important to have a plan of succession in place for the next generation of caretakers of the farm or ranch you have built, nourished and loved. As part of our follow-up series to the Women In Ag Conference, this virtual program, presented by an Agricultural Law Specialist, will outline specific steps you and your family should take to develop an estate plan that allows for a smooth and equitable transition for everyone.

Friday, February 23
